

Babis did not come; Hoppa day!!!

First breakfast and on Greek time we left for Athina. We we're waiting for Babis but he did not come. Dinesh was waiting for us. Our Babis' driver.

Hoppa

At babis time at 10.30 we started our day at the university: We are at the national library of Greece ,we see a lot but it is al Greek to us. The library opened in 1888 (did they have babiss at that time?). It was founded by three (babis?) brothers. The oldest books are from the 15th century. The oldest book is from 1476. Books are not allowed outside the building.

Hoppa

After the library it was time for our group photo. We were all on the stairs and not 1 but 20 camera's were used to make a picture o this special moment. Maria went mad.

Hoppa

Stoa Vivliou. A special bookshop centre with a lot of book presentations (cheap according to the babis form the centre and expensive according to Maria) There are 100 publishers and about 24 bookshops. The bookshops are all owned by the publishers. In the same centre we visited a historical centre and everybody drank frappe!

Hoppa

Finally lunch. Food food and more great and fantastic food, our stomachs burst so it was time for a walk

Hoppa

We walked to the Acropolis with a lovely guide. Where we were taught how to get discount from Edgars. Just be very big and say in a low voice: "Discount". And the result is 10 % discount. Hoppa for Edgars.

Hoppa

After the beautiful tour of Acropolis and it's views we had some free time.

Hoppa

We walked across the book fair and spoke to some of the publishers. The fair is there 12 days for two times a year. There is a possibility it might not be there next year because the ministrie of culture s afraid the publishers damages all of Acropolis.

Hoppa

Time for the bus and went for Dinner with beautiful views of the Acropolis. We danced Hoppa Hoppa Hoppa,, met Maria's parents (the big boss), sang , ate and drank all night long until Maria brought us back to reality. It was bus time and back to the hotel.

Hoppa

Did Babis come after all????

Group 2

Doris,
Maria,
Elise,
Karolin,
(Babis?) Giorgos